Fallopio, Gabriele 1523 - 1562

DEGREE: MD DATE: 1548 PLACE: Ferrara
TEACHER/RESEARCH ADVISOR: Brasavola

professor of botany, surgery, and anatomy; discovered Fallopian tubes and described the anatomy of the kidneys; described the structure of the skull, esp. the muscles and the cranial and facial nerves; studied the ossification of bones and dentition of the teeth during growth; first to describe the cochlea, the vestibules, and the semicircular canals of the ear; colleague and supporter of Vesalius.